revolutioniseSPORT

sports management made simple.

revolutioniseSPORT

The revolutioniseSPORT system has been used now for two months.

Briefly, revolutioniseSPORT is an online, cloud-based, end-to-end platform for sporting and community organisations. Everything in the platform is driven by membership online registrations with additional finance and administrative capabilities, such as recording incidents & injuries, tracking tasks, and managing meeting minutes and action items.

We had a few issues in merging old databases and sectioning current and old members and deleting duplicate records. We can now say we have a "clean" database to work with. The board has a work in progress in adding grading, CAF and Referee information to the database so all club administrators have this information all in one place and online for easy access. Club administrators have been emailed login details to view each of their club members and current information.

If any member has any difficulty in logging into the new system please email web@judotasmalia.org.au and will sort as best we can. Please note, some old logins have failed to transfer, so we need to email a reset login.

When renewal of registration comes around, the system will generate an automatic reminder email from 30 and 14 days from renewal date.

Please pay before expiry date as you will NOT be covered for insurance if injured. Also your continuous time in grade will be effected for grading purposes and Judo Australia has issued a member policy that clubs should not allow judoka on the mat for training, unless registered full-time or registered for the one-off 4 week Trial free membership.

Website Review

To put it bluntly, no club has forwarded any stories to be posted on the Judo Tasmania website since it went live in March 2018. All club information regarding training times and contact information and even photos were brought over from the old website and only a few clubs have bothered to update.

There was a big uproar that the old website was not working and was out-of-date. Clubs are now falling back into old habits. I am calling out to all clubs to visit the website and forward any change of information to web@judotasmalia.org.au as a matter of urgency.

Between 400 - 600 visits are occurring each month and clubs are missing out on new memberships, due to inaccurate information or updated information regarding events or what's happening in training this week. Membership is down state-wide and we have a ready resource in promoting judo in Tasmania and individual clubs. Please get on board today.

The website is also being used to store online resources for both Judo Tasmania and Judo Australia. This means you can find forms, policies, constitutions, grading requirements and more, ready to be downloaded.

No limit Judo

No Limits Judo offers people with diverse and special needs the opportunity to participate as productive and respected members of the Judo Australia community. With the required training and encouragement, people with special needs are capable and can enjoy, learn and benefit from participation in the inclusive sport of Judo. Judo develops cardiovascular fitness, anaerobic capacity, flexibility, strength, power and improved body composition with training. No Limits Judo offers a fair and welcoming opportunity for Judo participants to develop and demonstrate their skills and talents through judo training and competition. No Limits Judo also increases the public's awareness of their capabilities and needs.

Announcing State Representative for the Board of No Limits Judo Australia

Carla Johnson has just been appointed the state representative for the Board of No Limits Judo Australia. Carla is an active and supportive member of the Judo Tasmania community and believes very strongly that Judo is for everyone.

Carla has gained a degree in Communication, Journalism and International Relations (BA UTAS) and 8+ years experience in Journalism, Public Relations Communications, Event Management. And currently studying a Master in Social Work at Charles Sturt University.

Over the past five years Carla has worked in the social work industry supporting people from all different backgrounds and abilities including some of Tasmania's most vulnerable and disadvantaged. Carla is now a Practice Consultant (for Out of Home Care and Disability) with Oak Possability - Tasmania's largest disability support service.

There are currently no players or team in Tasmania that train or compete under the No Limits Banner and minimal opportunities for exposure to Judo for aspiring players with a disability or additional needs. Please call Carla if you can help with possible members, ideas to promote or wish to volunteer your services for future events – 0408 267 867.

Important Note

In many ways, No Limits Judo is similar to conducting tournaments for Mons Judo; Judoka need encouragement, help and education. The No Limits Judo tournament should be seen as an opportunity more for participation rather than strictly competition. This requires an increased verbal and physical engagement by referees.

To conduct a successful No Limits Judo tournament, for the safety and enjoyment of the participating judoka; it requires a support team approach from mainly the carer/coach but also the tournament official and tournament referee. It is acceptable for the referee in NL Judo to seek assistance/advice from their "off-mat" support team (coach/carer, or tournament official) during a contest bout.

CAF Course

The CAF course is a completely new system and the old NCAS system expired a couple of years ago. At the moment all coaches in Australia have been rectifying at the Coach or Assistant coach level under the new system. The Coach course requires attendance at a one day seminar plus the completion of a number of prerequisites.

A summary sheet and further information can be found at www.judotasmnia.org.au/resources/JudoTasmania.

All interested parties should let Terry Hjort, the current State Coordinator [treasurer@judotasmnia.org.au] know urgently to be included in the next course

We are in the process of finalising a date with Mike Griffiths the National coordinator of CAF to run the course either up north or south depending on numbers and geographical positions of interested parties. Announcement will be made on the website, facebook and emailed out to registered members.

The senior course is much more detailed than the old system and requires two full days of attendance. Mike is hoping to have this available in the next few months in HOBART. With high level judokas from the mainland coming down to do the course. A first for Tasmania.
